Christmas festivities began on Saturday, December 5, when K.S.B. students traveled to Mr. Pestel's farm to cut down trees for decorating in the cottages on campus.

On December 9, the Primary Class and Special Class enjoyed breakfast with Santa Claus at K-Mart on Taylorsville Road in Louisville. Mrs. Baldwin's class went to the Oxmoor Mall on December 10 for a visit with Santa and window shopping.

Monday, December 14, was the evening for caroling in the school neighborhood. Mr. and Mrs. Evans served hot chocolate and cookies after the caroling.

Tuesday, December 15, featured Santa's Secret Shop where students can purchase gifts for families and friends. The shop was set up in the multi-purpose room on the first level of the new dormitory facility. Students also enjoyed the Home Economics Open House throughout the afternoon.

Wednesday, December 16, found students and staff singing carols in the Richie Auditorium. The Primary Class enjoyed ice skating at Gardiner Lane Rink.

Thursday, December 17, brought the jolly man himself, Santa (Scott Detrick)

Claus. The Louisville Lions Club Christmas Party, complete with music and gifts, ended the many Christmas festivities.

Merry Christmas to all!

BOY SCOUT NEWS

The Boy Scouts went on a camping trip on Saturday, November 7, to Jerry Pestel's farm in Indiana. The Scouts began meeting on September 2 and they have practiced how to set up a tent, how to roll up a sleeping bag and how to fold the flag. The troop thought the trip was going to be at Deam's Lake, but they went instead to Mr. Pestel's farm.

The Scouts attending were Jerry Ettinger, Jimmy Gibson, Jerome Campbell, Keith Blair, Mike Breeden, Eddie Stephens, Joe Smith, Chucky Runyon, Mark Taylor, Jeff Wheatley, John Short, Ricky Moore, Ottis Florence, Terry Hubbard, Robbie Bevins, Kenny Isaacs, Claude Neace and Norman Stivers. Supervising adults were Ricky Ricks, Matt Davidson and Billy Wright.

For lunch the Scouts ate shishkebobs and for supper they had barbeque chicken.

At 11:00 Saturday night, Mark Taylor had asthma problems. He went to Matt Davidson who took Mark to his trailer and he felt better. Everybody else slept all night in the tents.

On Sunday morning the Scouts had bacon, eggs and fried apples for breakfast. Jerome Campbell ate ten pieces of bacon and was called "Bacon Man".

After breakfast the troop folded up the tents, returned to school and put away the equipment.

On Tuesday, November 17, the Scouts went swimming and then to Baskin-Robbins for ice cream.

A checker tournament is planned for December.

Answer: An astronaut gets missile toe!

ELEMENTARY ACTIVITIES

The Elementary Classes celebrated Thanksgiving by making pumpkin pies from real pumpkins we got from a farm. Our pies were good and we were thankful for that!

December is bringing a lot of activities for us. We are busy making Christmas presents for our parents and working on art projects to decorate our rooms. We will be going to Children's Theater on December 11 to see The Christmas Firebird.

We wish everyone a Merry Christmas and a good new year to come.

RADIO AND TELEVISION ADVERTISING

Barbara Martin

If we would all stop and think for a moment about how much radio and television have helped us to communicate and entertain, we may realize how much better off we are than people who didn't have this type of media. A few years ago there was no such thing as radio or television. Everyone either read his favorite books or went to the theaters for part of his entertainment. People contacted relatives and friends by means of writing letters.

Stores, factories and other places of business had it hard because there was no way to advertise their merchandise. Therefore, not as many people bought much or anything from them.

Commercials are helpful in that they help to pay for the cost of radio and television programs and promote the sales of many different products. In recent years, however, I have found that some forms of advertising have simply gotten out of hand.

For example, we all know that we are not going to go through life without catching cold or a virus, and in order to rid ourselves of these ailments, we need to take some sort of medicine. Radio and TV commercials talk about several kinds of medicine to buy. We need to know this information, so that advertisements do help us. But, sometimes these commercials are heard during the times when people are trying to enjoy a good meal. Perhaps you could be indulging in a good hot bowl of chicken and dumplings when a commercial comes on the air talking about what to do for hemorrhoids or an upset stomach. Suddenly you have a loss of appetite and get the urge to upchuck. The contents of that commercial have just spoiled your whole meal. I think that Americans today have forgotten what was meant by the old expression--"There is a time and place for everything."

Some things which are advertised over the radio or television are things which should not be exposed to the public.

I feel anesthetics and personal products for women should be advertised in magazines only. One can always skip over an advertisement if he does not wish to read it, but, one cannot refrain from hearing it if it's on radio or TV.

I'm not saying that I don't appreciate radio and television, I am just saying that I think advertisements should have good taste. We are not setting very good examples for children by letting ugly commercials open to the public. We need to remember that everything has limitations.
